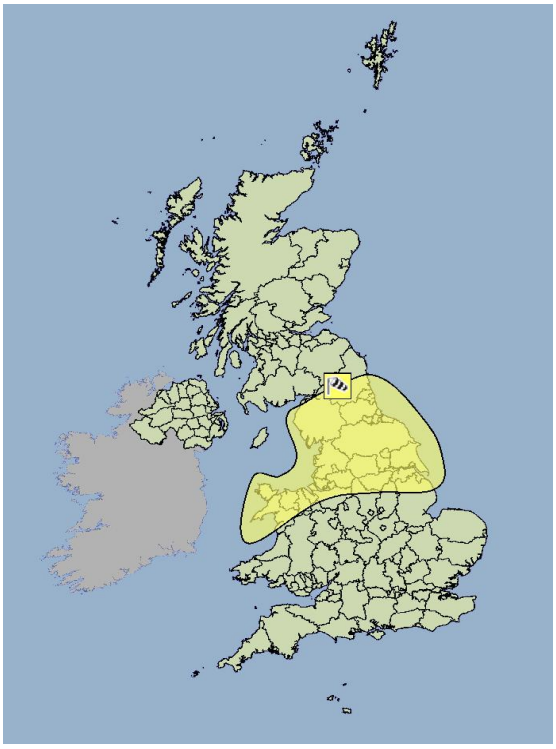
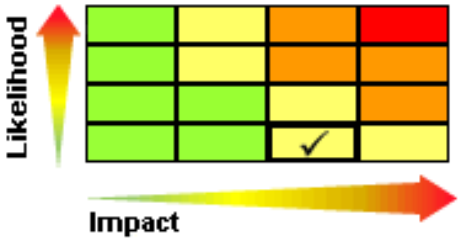
National Severe Weather Warning Service





Chief Forecasters Assessment
The strongest winds are expected to arrive in the west of the region on Tuesday evening and move eastwards overnight.

There is some uncertainty in peak wind strengths and how quickly winds will ease on Wednesday morning.

Heavy rain may be an additional hazard resulting in difficult driving conditions.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Warning of Wind

Valid from 20:00 on Tue, 12th Sep 2017 until 10:00 on Wed, 13th Sep 2017

Strong winds with gusts of 55-60mph, perhaps reaching 70mph in some places, are possible on Tuesday night into Wednesday morning.

Road, rail and air services may be affected with longer journey times and cancellations possible. Some restriction to roads and bridges are also possible.

There is a small chance of power cuts, and some damage to buildings, such as tiles blowing off roofs.
